For an End to Dissension

Prayers for Civic Unity Asked

C of C Group Cites 'Turbulence, Unrest'

Planners Praised As Hearings End

In an effort to revive a spirit of harmony and to check the growing evidences of suspicion and distrust in Menlo Park's public affairs, the civic committee of the Chamber of Commerce this week was proposing a day of prayer for the coming Sunday.

In a meeting with religious leaders of the community yesterday, the committee asked the help of all churches in stressing the need for understanding from citizens and wisdom and humanity from the city's officials.

The civic committee, under chairmanship of Robert Coate, last week received approval of its program from the chamber board in a special meeting Friday. The proposal, citing "growing anxiety (at) the turbulance and unrest created within the community and the unfavorable publicity attendant thereto," recommended, first a note of appreciation to the planning commissioners for their unselfish efforts in behalf of the community and a prayer that their recommendations be wise and workable.

This note was read to the planners at the Monday night hearing (see accompanying story).

The second portion of the program was the call for a day of prayer "for understanding and the guidance of civic leaders . . ."

"That such action would have a salutary effect in improving the moral climate for future discussions and would have a sobering effect upon the minds of our citizens and civic leaders is the opinion of this committee," the report concluded.

As its hearing on the city's proposed master plan drew to a close Monday night, members of the city planning commission garnered a round of applause — applause from both proponents and opponents of the plan.

And with the applause went the wish, joined by both factions, that whatever their recommendations, the community may be unified.

As the last speaker on the subject, "area east of Middlefield road," sat down, Dale A. Frane, member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, read a statement from the Chamber's civic committee, expressing "appreciation and gratitude for you gentlemen of the planning commission, who have given so unselfishly of your time and strength . . .

"Your great and genuine affection for Menlo Park have been amply demonstrated . . . and for this free giving of unselfish service you deserve the commendation and deepest respect of all citizens," the letter continued.

"Now that your work is nearing completion we offer our prayers and sincere hope that the recommendations you make shall be filled with wisdom; that they may be truly workable; that they may result in an era of good will and that, above all else, the community may be unified and become the best of all places to live," the letter concluded.

Irving F. Dunn said he concurred, and added that he was willing to apologize if anything he said in the heat of past debates seemed to reflect on the commissioners, rather than on the plan. Dunn is a member of the Property Owners' League for Opposition to the Master Plan for the Central Business District.

Vance M. Brown, spokesman for the Fair Planning association, a group against the plan for the eastern part of the city added his thanks to the commission.

SENTENCE FOR YVONNE

A 60-day jail sentence and a 2-years' probation period was the sentence given Tuesday to 23-year-old Yvonne Dal Santo, who pled guilty last month to the charge of grand theft brought against her by a Menlo Park car dealer, after she had wangled a convertible from him.

Sewer Bonds Passed by 3 to 1 Vote

Menlo Park Sanitary District's $310,000 bond issue was passed Monday in a special election in which about 15 per cent of the district's voters cast ballots at two consolidated precincts.

The balloters approved the issue, monies from which will be used to finance larger outfalls along Atherton and Middle avenues, by substantially more than the two-thirds majority required.

Final totals were:

For	1001
Against	359
Total votes cast	1360

Main projects to be financed include:

1. New, larger "trunk line" main from Atherton avenue and O'Dell place to the vicinity of Marsh and Middlefield roads. The present sewer along this stretch was laid more than 40 years ago, and is inadequate to accommodate the "load" now originating in western Atherton.

2. Larger outfall along Middle avenue, from Olive street to existing larger main east of El Camino Real. Originally designed to serve only the area between the highway and Olive street, the present main has also becoem inadequate for the expanded population of the western part of the district.

3. Interceptors extending along Olive street. These will intercept the "load" originating west of that street, which has been flowing through the mains designed to meet the needs of the area bounded by the highway, Olive street, Valparaiso avenue and San Francisquito creek.

In a second ballot measure considered by district voters Monday, two incumbents were returned to the board of trustees and a third member was named. The two are William Casey, who garnered 1233 votes and William Tyler, who got 1227 votes. The new memebr of the board, Uno Ahlenius, got 1181 votes.

School Bells

TO RING MONDAY

Oak Knoll school will open its doors for the first time Monday morning but, Menlo Park Elementary school district Superintendent said this week, not all of the doors will open. Classes assigned there will be in "double session" for the first week.

The reason is that only six classrooms of the school's nine rooms and kindergarten will be ready. The others won't be completed for another seven days.

Children attending the school are to be there at 8:30 a. m. Monday, however, for assignment to either morning or afternoon sessions. After the uncompleted rooms are open, they will be reassigned for "full day" schedules.

Nearly 2000 pupils plan to attend the five schools of the Menlo Park district, when the bell rings the beginning of the new school year next week, Homfeld said.

M.P. Evangelical Lutherans Buy Site for Church

Purchase of property at 330 Donohoe street, near Bayshore highway, as site for eventual construction of a Menlo Park Lutheran church (elc) was announced this week by the congregation's pastor, the Rev. Robert G. Hovland.

There are no immediate plans for the start of construction, the pastor said, but the first unit of he building is expected to be started next spring.

"The general plan is to build a parish hall suitable for a Sunday school and a temporary place for worship services," Reverend Hovland said. "Later, when circumstances permit, the church edifice proper will be constructed."

The tract was chosen for location and size, and adequate offstreet parking will be provided, he added.

Meanwhile, the congregation will continue to use the Little theater, Burgess park, as a place of worship; however, a Sunday school will meet in a present dwelling at the Donohoe street site, after installation of proper equipment. The church office will also be situated there.

The Evangelical Lutheran congregation, which formed here last December, now has a membership of about 100, Rev. Hovland said.

School Bond Figure Cut To $585,000

Menlo Park Elementary School District trustees, revising their population and cost estimates downward, late last week re-set the amount of the district's Oct. 9 bond issue at $585,000.

The new bond issue figure was set after deletion of plans for a proposed school in Stanford Village. Originally, the Oct. 9 bond issue was for $850,000. Legal notice of the district's resolution calling for voters' passage on the new figure is published today.

The new resolution was passed at a special meeting of the trustees Friday night when the new figures showed, apparently, that the district's needs could be met for the next two years with $585,000 in bond monies, rather than the larger amount.

The new amount still provides, however, for money to cover land cost for the Stanford Village area school, if and when land becomes available there.

Plans for work at other schools of the district were also revised somewhat.

PROJECTS LISTED

If passed, the bond issue will be used to finance the following projects, estimated costs of which were formulated by architects:

1. Encinal school: Five classrooms, a crafts room and a music room, plus heating ,storage and music practice rooms. Estimated cost: $130,000 above state funds available.

2. Oak Knoll school: A new wing, including nine classrooms and a kindergarten. Estimated cost: $190,000.

3. Hillview school: To be completed with seven classrooms, a music room, and auxiliary units. Estimated cost: $190,000.

4. Acquisition of a Stanford Village school site: $75,000.

In the main, the projects at the existing schools will be of about the same size as in the previous proposed bond issue.

School District Superintendent Mel Homfeld explained that the new figures were arrived at after consultation with the facilities and finances subcommittee of the Citizens' School Study Committee for the Menlo Park School District, as well as with statisticians who provided new population projections and other data, for use with that of the architects.

Fire Protection Tax Rate Cut

Menlo Park Fire District taxpayers will pay 59.6 cents per $100 assessed valuation to finance the district's operations during the current fiscal year, figures released by the county controller's office revealed last week.

The tax rate is slightly lower than that contemplated by the fire district commission in its original estimate, and will allow for carrying out some of the district's program of expansion in keeping with district growth.

Commission Chairman Malcolm G. Paterscn commented that the new figure—down from last year's 92 cents per $100—was made possible through the 50 per cent increase in the assessed valuation, adjusted to the district's growing population.

Adjusting his tax bill to the new valuation, the taxpayer still pays less for fire protection this year than last, Paterson pointed out.

"This is in keeping with the policy of the board of fire commissioners to maintain the fire district tax rate at a minimum, while allowing for necessary expansion," the commission chairman said.

Last year, before the adjustment in the district's valuation, assessed value on which the tax rate was levied was $28,670,900.

This year, with the adjustment valuation, tax levy valuation is $50,084,610.

Area C's of C Make Plans for 'B-E Day'

A total of 630 elementary and high school teachers in the area of the Sequoia high school district will participate Nov. 10 in a "B-E Day" —Business Education day—designed to acquaint them with business, commercial and industrial activities in the area.

The affair is being co-chairmanned by Nicholas Nugent, vice-principal of Menlo-Atherton high school and George Cleese Jr., Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce director. The program is being arranged by the several school districts and the Menlo Park, San Carlos, Belmont, and Redwood City Chambers of Commerce.

"B-E Day" will not be a tour. It will be a purposeful study of the entire comercial and industrial community.

She Wonders 'Why Do They Wait?'

Sighing Registrar Keeps Signing 'em Up Till Midnight Voter Deadline Passes

City Clerk Mrs. Margaret Becker breathed a sigh of relief at about midnight last Thursday and, after a hectic evening session, closed registration of voters eligible to cast ballots in the Nov. 4 general election.

Accompanying her sigh was a question: Why do so many people wait until the last minute before making themselves eligible to vote?

Mrs. Becker had originally intended to remain at the city hall until 9:30 p. m. on the eve of the deadline, to accommodate last minute registrants. But the number of persons who appeared to get their names "on the line" for the November balloting was so great that she had to call in her husband—Frank S. Becker, also a deputy registrar—and the two worked until midnight.

Mrs. Becker signed up about 100 voters during the five-hour session.

REASONS

Some of those who signed up late volunteered reasons for it. Most popular were statements that the registrant had been "travelling," "in the hospital" or just "away," Mrs. Becker said. Others said that they worked during the day, admitted they had been somewhat negligent, or had just been "putting it off."

Some people called in, early in the evening to find out how late Mrs. Becker would be at her office.

Others, including one couple with five small children, elected to stand in line until their turn to register came up.

The last voters which Mr. and Mrs. Becker signed up were a couple which, arriving shortly after 7:30 p. m. and seeing how many were in line ahead of them, elected to attend a motion picutre until the crowd thinned.

Actually, Mrs. Becker points out, the long evening wait was unnecessary, in most cases. Prospective voters can sign up any time during the year, provided they can meet residence requirements.

Total number of voters in Menlo Park is not yet known, Mrs. Becker said. Such figures are now being compiled by the county registrar of voters.

'CHEST' QUOTAS LISTED

Quotas to be met by cities of San Mateo county in the Community Chest's forthcoming drive were announced yesterday. Menlo Park's quota will be $23,800; Atherton, $23,000; East and North Palo Alto, $2150 and Woodside, $12,000.

Police Make Plans For Jr. Traffic Patrol Training

As the Sept. 22 opening of schools of the Menlo Park Elementary District approaches, Menlo Park police this week began making preparations for training junior traffic patrolmen who will aid other children at stree crossings at the schools.

Similar arrangements are to be initiated by Atherton police in that city.

The training is being arranged by Sergeant Joseph Ferriera.

As in previous years, Police Chief George Potter said yesterday, the junior patrols at each school will be formed around a nucleus of experienced "junior patrolmen"—that is, those who served as street crossing guards last year but who have not yet been graduated into high school.

Under this year's traffic patrol setup, Potter said, the "juniors" will be taught to direct traffic while remaining on the sidewalks themselves, thus eliminating the possibility of getting hurt.

At three more-than-ordinary hazardous street crossings in the district, special adult patrolmen will be on hand before and after school and during the noon hour, to aid children in making safe transits.

These are: Willow road at Coleman avenue, Jim Butler; Willow road at Newbridge street, A. S. Tannahill; Santa Cruz avenue at Elder street, John Hanlon.

As in previous years, Chief Potter said, the members of junior traffic safety patrols will be entitled to participate in a recreational program sponsored by the police department as a "reward" for their services.

In Atherton, Lieutenant David Silva is in charge of training the "juniors." Traffic safety patrols will be set up at St. Joseph's, Las Lomitas and Encinal schools in that city, as well as at Menlo-Atherton high school.

The chapter has a quota of blood to fill each month, Mrs. White explains, but fewer than 50 have thus far signed for the Sept. 26 date.

THANK YOU!

Thank you for letting us off the hook!

Twice in five months this newspaper has advocated a "Yes" vote on bonds for the Menlo Park Sanitary District.

Last April the bonds failed to achieve the necessary two-thirds majority, and we were forced to lament the lack of public interest and civic spirit that allowed so important a measure to be defeated.

This week, although the turnout was disappointingly small, at least enough persons got out and voted to put the issue through.

To all those who did vote "Yes" last Monday we say a heartfelt "Thanks for not letting us—and your community—down again!"

TIME TO THINK

It's time for us all to undertake a bit of self-analysis. It's time to re-evaluate ourselves, our thinking and our community.

The civic committee of the Chamber of Commerce has called on the city's religious leaders to help in this task by stressing the need for charity, understanding and rational thinking as members of a community.

We echo that call, not only because of the obvious heat and loss of perspective generated in the recent planning commission hearings on the proposed master plan, but because of a general spirit of distrust and disunity that is beginning to mark all civic undertakings.

Good, honest government has in recent years been one of the blessings that has made Menlo Park a fine place to live. If we lose sight of the fact that we have such a blessing, we are in danger of losing the blessing itself.

If unselfish citizens, giving freely of their time and energies for what they honestly believe to be the best interests of the community, are met at every move with vilification, suspicion and threats, we cannot long count on the services of such men.

Suspicion breeds suspicion. Distrust breeds distrust. If we look hard enough for corruption, we're not going to "find" it, we're going to "create" it.

We do not mean that we must not be vigilant. We must at all times be ready to fight for our rights and be alert to the possibility of misgovernment.

We have seen enough corruption on the national level in recent years. But we must not take that as automatic evidence that government on all levels is corrupt.

We must not approach every civic action with the preconceived notion that someone in official circles is receiving personal gain or that "something must be wrong somewhere."

If we are going to take that attitude, we shall very soon discourage civic-minded men from trying to do their best. If every action is met with suspicion, they will soon leave the field to those who are always eager to get in and work for selfish ends.

There was too much careless accusation and groundless suspicion evident throughout the planning commission hearings on the master plan.

A similar spectacle was presented at last week's city council meeting when our city fathers, trying to carry through the repaving of Bay road as it was planned three years ago, found themselves confronted with threats of legal action, suspicion of ulterior motives, and demands that their public assurance of good faith be guaranteed in writing.

The sooner we stop that sort of nonsense and realize that we are fortunate in having men of good will at the head of our local government, the better.

Let's hope that when the master plan hearings begin before the council, we can approach the problems involved on a higher plane.

We're all interested in the welfare of the community as a whole as well as in justice for the individual. Let's work it out without rancor.

Continued distrust and disunity can do the community nothing but harm. A bit of understanding and rational thinking can help to keep Menlo Park the finest of all places to live.

We hope all residents of the community will listen to the call this Sunday and take time to think and readjust their attitudes so that the entire community can go forward with cooperation, not backward with dissension.

Your City's Business:

View Objections To Plan

By MAYOR CHAS. P. BURGESS

Another phase of the cons of the central business district portion of the proposed master plan concerns the objections of those persons owning residential property which is proposed to be taken for parking.

Some of these persons are objecting because they believe that although their property is not now zoned commercial, the ultimate expansion of the business district will cause the zoning to be changed in some future year.

Others, and probably most are in this category, do not wish to move in the first place, and second are fearful that the price which will be offered by the city will be less than that necessary to duplicate their properties in quality and quantity of accommodations and convenience of location through purchase elsewhere.

The first of these objections is somewhat akin to that of the owners of present commercially zoned property which is proposed to be taken for parking.

It is, however, a degree weaker, for the ultimate increase in values is dependent upon an act of some future city council, as well as a speculation on the development of Menlo Park's downtown business area.

The second objection poses a major problem in city policy, namely, are the benefits to the city as a whole in the proposed program sufficiently great to justify requiring the compulsory sale of their property at today's value by a substantial number of our citizenry.

It seems obvious to me that the right of eminent domain, or condemnation, should be exercised only if it will result in a substantial benefit to a large segment of our population.

This would mean that the benefits would have to be to a much greater number of persons than just the owners of the Santa Cruz avenue property. (The charge has frequently been made that the proposed plan was designed expressly to benefit Santa Cruz avenue properties).

The planning commission is expected in the next 30 days or thereabouts to make its recommendations to the city council.

I don't know what changes will be recommended, but if the downtown business plan is basically the same, the council must weigh these considerations carefully to determine whether or not a compulsory plan is justifiable for such part of the plan as it accepts.

In our two parking plazas, only one property owner was completely eliminated from participation through acquisition of all of his property. The price paid for his property was, in my opinion, liberal.

The rest of the acquisition was in rear areas or fractions of a man's frontage, but parcels remaining after the cuts benefitted from the work.

The exercise of eminent domain was clearly indicated here. The facts are somewhat different in the proposed project.

Another City's Planning Problems Aired

The Recorder always welcomes letters from its readers on any subject of public interest. Within the limitations of available space, all such letters will be published as received so long as they do not violate decency and good taste and provided they are signed.

Editor,
Menlo Park Recorder:

In "Business Week" of Aug. 16, there is a story of the Master Planning of Rye, New York, a commuter town 25 miles from New York City. A resume is as follows:

Their plan was started in 1943 and completed in 1946. The Planning Commission believed the most important part was the redevelopment of the business district. So they asked for a $600,000 bond issue.

They were surprised when the voters turned it down, and their opposition was directed at the plan itself rather than the bond.

Then Frederick P. Clark, a local planner, studied the matter and found the trouble. Which was the citizens themselves had little or no part in the drafting of the plan. So he invited the various groups, civic and business, to have representatives talk it over with the commission. This they did over a year, and the Commission then put the projects into a list and called another meeting of the groups. At the final meeting the plan was approved with a few small changes.

The new plan eliminated the business redevelopment, except for some parking areas which cost $500,000. The new plan called for $1½ millions, but this time it carried without a dissenting vote.

Confidence was thus established in the City Fathers, and subsequent projects have met no difficulty.

Up to our own present status this city of ours parallels the eastern city. The voice of our people has unmistakably disapproved this plan. If that voice is heeded and the City Fathers will make a new plan with the people's knowledge and consent, and for the benefit of all the people, we can have the same happy ending.

Americans are much the same in the east and the west in their determination to stay democratic.

Well, we can dream, can't we?

Katherine MacLean.

Editor,
Menlo Park Recorder:

Your reporter of a recent meeting of the Planning Commission said that I "questioned Mr. Wise's competency as an engineer."

The facts were these, one of the proponents of the proposed plan in the course of his talk said that the Planning Commission had hired the best "engineers" and that they had prepared and submitted this impliedly, "engineered plan."

Upon my questioning Mr. Wise he admitted that neither he nor Mr. Eisner were Civil Engineers nor were they registered with the State of California Department of Professional and Vocational Standard as such. Mr. Wise claimed that they were "Planning Engineers" being members of some national association of City Planners. I raised this question since the Code regarding the practice of Civil Engineering in California is as follows:

Article 3. Application of Chapter to Civil Engineering:

6730. In order to safeguard life, health, property and public welfare, any persons, either in a public or private capacity, except as in this chapter specifically excepted, who practices, or offers to practice, civil engineering in any of its branches in this State, shall submit evidence that he is qualified to practice, and shall be registered as a civil engineer by the board.

6731. Civil engineering embraces the following studies or activities in connection with fixed works for . . . municipal improvements, . . . highways, . . . buildings or bridges.

(d) Appraisals or valuations.

(e) The preparation and/or submission of designs, plans and specifications and engineering reports.

. . . . . .

Civil engineering also includes city and regional planning insofar as any of the above features are concerned therein . . .

From the above it appears to me that "engineered" city planning is within the province of a registered civil engineer.

Mr. Wise and Mr. Eisner may be competent to do this work, but it would seem that to do this work in the State of California they should be Registered Civil Engineers.

Vance M. Brown.

Monday Night:

Opponents Predominate as City Planners Hear Final Words on East MP Proposals

Menlo Park planning commissioners Monday night concluded their hearings on the city's proposed master plan with a second hearing concerning proposed developments of the area east of Middlefield road.

The hearing was in marked contrast to the previous one dealing with the same section: Only about 80 persons—as contrasted to the 300 which attended the previous hearing—were present and acrimony was held to a minimum with Commission Chairman Charles Andrews ruling speakers "out of order" when they appeared to be wandering too far afield.

Audience response and speakers from the floor indicated those present were, predominantly, against the master plan provisions for the area. However, communications read into the record, from the North Palo Alto Residents' association and the Belle Haven Improvement association, favored the plan.

Individual protests, in writing, were also made a part of the record, though many of these dealt with a previous recommendation of the city planning consultants asking that land fronting on Bayshore highway be rezoned from "commercial" to "residential" classification.

New recommendations, calling for retention of "commercial" designation of the affected lots, have been submitted to the commission by Planning Consultants H. F. Wise and Simon Eisner on the basis that most of the land will be taken for highway widening.

Protests against the master plan were summarized in prepared statements, read by members of the East Menlo Park Fair Planning association, headed by Vance Brown.

The meeting opened with Wise reviewing the new recommendations for the area.

Read into the record were 25 letters, received since the July 14 hearing on the same section, dealing with the then-proposed rezoning of Bayshore frontages and 11 protests dealing with proposed rezoning of individual pieces of property facing Willow between Bayshore and Middlefield road.

Read into the record in favor of the plan were the two residents' association letters, and individual endorsements from 10 Belle Haven area householders.

Irving F. Dunn, 1159 Chestnut, made an inquiry regarding the plan for the central business district. He was later ruled out of order, but after establishing that the city's planning consultants were paid about $10,000 for the plan and that their contract is on file in the city clerk's office.

William J. Gowans, 400 Pope street, North Palo Alto, asked what would become of property owned by him at Willow and Bayshore, as well as along Willow road east of the highway.

He was told that the corner lot would be absorbed in highway widening and that the other lots would be rezoned for apartment-house use, and was ruled out of order when he began a sentence, "It seems there's larceny in the hearts of men . . ."

Vance Brown then took the floor, to introduce other members of the Fair Planning group.

A. D. Ranstead presented a map, showing Willow road and Bayshore highway lots whose holders have contacted the association, and pointed out that most of the property was first zoned commercial, by the county, in 1937.

He challenged the planning commission's judgement as compared with that of the county supervisors of 15 years ago, and added that, under the new ordinance, most of the lots would be unsuitable for homes since they are almost all of 5000 square feet, under the proposed 7000 minimum.

(Planners advised him that existing lots of record, of the 5000 square foot size, would continue to be legal building sites even after—as, if and when—the master plan is put through.)

Richard Schlegel, North Palo Alto plumbing contractor, was the next speaker in behalf of the association.

He spoke in favor of retaining zoning between the highway and Middlefield road, along Willow. The area is presently doing $2,000,000 business per annum, as against the $1,300,000 which planning consultants' surveys say is the maximum which it can do, he said, and added that he considered it unwise to call for widening of Willow road, absorbing off-street parking, when the center line of the street is not presently known.

R. J. O'Meara, owner of lots at Willow and Hetch Hetchy way, said that Belle Haven residents seem to favor commercial development in that area.

Mrs. Katherine MacLean took the floor to read figures concerning the effect of proposed rezonings on the tax base of the Ravenswood school district, described as "disastrous" in the text she read.

QUESTIONS FIGURES

T. J. White, apartment-house owner who resides at 1123 Camellia drive, East Palo Alto, questioned the figures. The apartment houses raise the valuation of the land, he said, while they do not add appreciably to the teaching load.

In 30 apartments operated by him, White said, there is presently only one child of school age.

Eugene Berendsen then explained what he called "practical objections" to the plan. Rezoning would result in the loss of a total $450,000 in property value, he contended, adding that Willow road frontages would not be good residential streets because of traffic.

Kenneth A. Johnson, Palo Alto attorney, explained that ,from his view, the Dumbarton bridge would serve as a connector between the east bay and the Peninsula, and that the Willow road section would then serve more persons than presently anticipated.

Board Chairman Andrews pointed out that the "streets and highways" section of the plan recognizes the role of the city in the bay region as a whole.

Brown took the floor to review "moral objections" to the plan.

William C. Buckelman, Belle Haven resident, and another member of the Belle Haven Improvement group, also stated their support of the plan.

'Plan' to Go BEFORE COUNCIL

The city planning commission's recommendations on the city's proposed master plan as a whole should be ready to be submitted before the city council the first part of next month, planning commissioners said at the conclusion of their hearings on the matter Monday night.

Planning Consultant H. F. Wise said that members of the board would meet informally in the next few weeks, to consider testimony given at hearings held since July.

A total of 18 hours of tape recordings have been made, he said, which the board will winnow for constructive criticism.

After that, they may recommend amendments to the master plan as first proposed, and pass the whole onto the council.

The council will then hold additional hearings.

Since 1934, we've been expanding our system to bring telephone service to the Columbia Basin area.

When the Columbia Basin needed telephones

Making a desert blossom meant building a complete, new communications system

Twenty years ago, much of central Washington was sagebrush wasteland. Then came the Columbia Basin project with its plans for a huge dam and thousands of miles of irrigation canals. Right from the beginning, one of the important "tools" needed was telephone service. And we began, even before a yard of earth was moved, to create a new telephone system in the desert. We've invested hundreds of thousands of dollars to build the new facilities in the Columbia Basin ...an investment which will mean much to the West and to the nation. For it is helping turn barren land into rich, food-producing farms.

Highway mobile telephones have been helping contractors and engineers build a network of canals over the vast area. In 1934, we put a private line circuit from Coulee Dam to Ephrata. Today the dam itself is webbed with miles and miles of telephone lines... a nerve system over which practically all operations are controlled. And throughout the Basin area we've been building huge amounts of telephone facilities to take care of its amazingly rapid growth. In Ephrata, for instance, three operators handled all calls in 1942. Today, although dial equipment handles local calls, 25 operators are needed. In Moses Lake, there were 66 telephones in 1935. Today there are more than 2000...and the real growth still lies ahead. Eventually, irrigation water will reach more than a million acres. And we'll keep doing our best to see that the people who move there will have telephone service equal to that in other areas we serve here in the West.

Your telephone is one of today's best bargains

Throughout the West, the Columbia Basin telephone story has been told in hundreds of rapidly growing communities. And, fast as the West's growth has been, the telephone has grown at an even faster rate...twice as fast in the territory we serve. For at today's prices, the telephone is so economical more people can afford it...so useful, more people want it.

Menalto Choir Sets 'Open House' For New Members

Tuesday evening, Sept. 23, will be the occasion for an "open house" sponsored in behalf of the Menalto Symphonic choir at the home of its director, Charles B. Westlund, 1409 Laurel street, Menlo Park.

The open house, which begins at 7:45 p. m., was announced this week by Choir President William Tregoning, who added that weekly rehearsals are now underway, every Tuesday evening at the Westlund home.

The "open house" is designed to acquaint prospective members of the choir—those who like to sing for pleasure — with present members, and to welcome back those who have been on vacation.

Tregoning added that the group is planning to present portions of "The Messiah" as part of its winter concert, and that alto, tenor and bass voices are needed.

Persons desiring further information are urged to call Westlund at his home, DA 2-0475.

EPA Boosters Hold Picnic

The Ravenswood Boosters' club held a picnic for its members and their guests at Memorial park Sunday.

Approximately 100 guests were on hand to enjoy the hot dogs and other refreshments supplied for the event. The food array was enlarged by additional potluck selections brought by the picnickers.

Picnic participants also enjoyed such activities as swimming, volley ball, softball, horseshoes and even a Dutch auction with prizes offered to the highest bidder.

It was the largest turn-out for the summer event in the club's history.

The Boosters' club acts as a fact finding organization for improvements in the Ravenswood community.

SHARK DERBY

Joe Abrott, 510 Manita way, took honors in the "smallest shark" classification at the Coyote Point Shark derby last weekend by reeling in a ¼-pounder. A total of 2719 sharks, largest of which weighed 84 pounds, was hauled in before an estimated 23,000 spectators.

Mike Mahaney won the Circus club table tennis contest for 12-year olds and under, while Hank Kuechler walked off with honors in the over 12 division.

MAHS Coach Sees Good Prospects For Casabamen

Menlo-Atherton high school basketball coach Bob Ayers is confident of a marked improvement in this fall's lightweight basketball teams.

Last year's squads, which finished low in the Peninsula Athletic league standings, developed some excellent prospects for the 1952 season and although the Bears' schedule is much tougher this year there is good basis for his reasoning.

The PAL lightweight basketball league has experimentally been split into two divisions to see if the progra mwould work for other sports in the rapidly-expanding circuit.

The southern division, in which Menlo-Atherton is a member, is decidedly the strongest with teams like Willow Glen, San Jose, Lincoln and Sequoia all members. On the other hand, the northern division's one very tough member is Jefferson.

SQUAD

Ayers' twenties this year will include Mario Generelli and Dick Brown, along with Morgan Myers, Ed Mazik and Steffan Schomaker. Generelli played for the M-A 130s last seasen and posted a better than 20-point average for Menlo Furnace in 'teen-age play during the spring and summer.

Brown was the third leading scorer on last year's twenties and was very impressive in 'teen-age ball also for both Menlo Furnace and the EPAAC Pelicans.

Myers, Mazik and Schomaker were all first string on the 1951 tens and the former two starred for the Pelicans last spring. Backed up by some impressive freshmen and reserves up from last year's squads, this quint will give all opponents a rough time.

According to Ayers, "This year's twenties will be a better offensive club and faster than last fall's quint while the tens will definitely be better also."

The tens, although hurt somewhat by losses to the frosh-soph football spuad, will field a pretty fair quint including sophomore Roger Clark and freshmen Chuck Weisner, Bill Lawson, Dale Crane and others.

To Enter Williamette

Willamette University (Special) —Frank A. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore of Menlo Park, will enter Willamette university at Salem, Ore., this fall.

The pre-dental major will attend his freshman year on a Willamette university honor scholarship.

Moore is a graduate of Sequoia high school in Redwood City where he lettered in golf.

MAHS Varsity:

Menlo-Atherton Football Coach Takes Dim View of Schedule; Team Waits for Uniforms; First Scrimmage Contact Tomorrow

If conditions are favorable, Menlo-Atherton high school's first varsity football squad will see action under fire in a light srimmage tomorrow afternoon. Coaches Howard Costello and Don Dorfmeier will definitely put their charges through tough scrimmages next week as they prepare for the Oct. 3 opener at Los Gatos.

Three organizational meetings were held by the Bear coaches last week as Peninsula Athletic league rules do not allow team practices before Sept. 15.

Candidates were issued what equipment was available and insurance was taken care of last week and Costello outlined the Bear offense and line blocking in two 45-minute chalk talks.

The failure of equipment to arrive has thrown a major obstacle up for the Menlo-Atherton gridders and coaches. Until Monday morning, only practice jerseys had been shipped to the team. On Monday, however, a good-sized portion of the equipment had arrived; not enough, however, for the entire squad, and not in time for use Monday. Also, certain articles —thigh pads and helmets — had not yet been delivered. Costello said he expected the remaining shipments sometime Tuesday.

Fundamentals and co-ordinating of plays was stressed in Monday's workout, along with the usual calisthenics and windsprints. Although the Bear coaches hope to scrimmage tomorrow, Costello stated earlier that "it all depends on how fast we come along. We'll scrimmage as soon as we are ready."

The M-A roster is at present near 65 and will probably go little higher before next Friday. Present plans call for a traveling squad of 44, inasmuch as that is the number of game uniforms ordered. They have not arrived yet, either.

FORWARD WALL

The Bears will have pretty good size in the forward wall—not only in the first team, but pretty well down the line. The M-A tackles are the heaviest members of the line, with centers, guards, and ends following in that order.

The backfield contains a few pretty good hard runners, and at least average weight in the first team.

Inexperience, especially in the untested line, will be a big problem for Line Coach Dorfmeier. Outside of a few transfers, no linemen have seen varsity action and quite so prevalent in the backfield but will still be a major problem.

As for the campaign ahead, Costello has said, "It's going to be tough sledding all the way this year. I don't see any easy teams on our schedule. The only one even close to us in lack of experience isCapuchino."

The former San Jose State halfback and all-around athlete at Tracy high school then went down the schedule listing the merits of each team: "We open against Los Gatos, which won their league (the strong Santa Clara Valley Athletic league) very few have put in jayvee duty. The lack of experience will not be in 1951 and with several top men returning has been picked among the top three this year.

"Our next game is at Lincoln, picked by both San Francisco and local sportswriters to wind up in the number two spot in PAL play. After that its South San Francisco, a plenty tough club with a new coach. (Also rated high in the PAL).

"We then play San Jose Tech there. They were ruled out of their league for using ineligible players so have no grade or age qualifications as we do. I imagine that they'll be plenty big and plenty tough, not having the restrictions that all leagues enforce.

"We play Capuchino next and expect plenty of trouble. They have an excellent coach in Jesse Cone of Stanford, but are nearly as inexperienced as we are.

"Jefferson, rated high in PAL, is next and considered a very tough team. San Mateo is everybody's choice for the Peninsula Athletic league title with plenty of depth and ability.

"Following San Mateo we meet Sequoia, which always starts slowly and is usually the hottest team in the league by mid-November (past records prove this). They won the PAL frosh-soph title in 1950 with the the same club that will be their varsity now, posting an 8-1 record—the only loss an early season practice game.

"Willow Glen still has Dick Jones and that's plenty in itself. They've been improving all along and will probably finish higher than their mid-standings rating."

The '49ers (Alias: Menlo Maulers) Return After Tour

Back at Menlo College this week for light drills preparatory to their National Football league opener on Sept. 28 are the San Francisco 49ers, one-half owners of the 1952 NFL Grapefruit league title.

The Peninsula Pros, Menlo Maulers, or whatever you prefer, have just returned from a very successful road trip which saw three victories in 11 days, including wins over the Los Angeles Rams and runner - up Cleveland Browns.

Buck Shaw's men knocked off Los Angeles in a slugfest at the LA colosseum on Sept. 3, defeating the world champs easily, 17-7. The physical tear ⁂ the Ram game was felt that Sunday, Sept. 7, however, as six 49ers were sidelined with serious injuries, two of them possibly for the season. The 49ers won handily, however, 29-14.

With most of their first string on the bench or in hospitals the local pros dumped the Cleveland Browns—Otto Graham, Lavelli, Speedie and all—35-31 on Sunday, Sept. 13.

The 49ers meet the San Jose Packers this Saturday at Spartan stadium in San Jose in a tune-up game. The semi-pro Packers will be aided by several "loans" from the LA Rams, however, which should add life to the contest.

Down to Earth:

Even 'Going to Seed,' Plants May Lend Themselves to Decorative Usefulness

By TERRY LEE

Plants that are allowed to "go to seed" are rarely as unattractive as the collosuial term implies.

Often, as with sweet autumn clematis and honesty, the seed heads are as handsome as the flowers that precede them. But for many reasons, allowing cultivated garden flowers to go to seed is impractical.

Many seedlings do not come true to type, and other seed heads, like those on the lilac and magnolia, take too much strength from the plant.

In the wild, it is another story. From a plant's point of view, its flowers have one purpose—perpetuation of the species. Showy blossoms attract insects to carry pollen from one bloom to another so that fertile seeds may result. The next problem for the plant is distribution of seeds.

Seeds that are encased in berries or other fruit are usually carried by birds or gravity.

Cases with feathey tails, like salsify and clematis, are borne by the wind, as are the winged cases of the maple and the light disks of alyssum.

The prickly sticky seed coverings of burdock attach themselves to hikers or animals. These are a few methods that plants use to spread seed.

Many seed cases have a beauty of their own, even though they don't generally attract attention by brilliant coloring.

Flower arrangers have already discovered their value for off-season bouquets in the home. There is abundant material in the open fields for the thistles and wheat are among the most beautiful, cat-tails in the swamps, and pampas grass plumes.

There are four "everlastings" that are worthwhile growing in the garden. Helichrysum, Acroclinium, Cockscomb, and the Chinese Lantern plant.

PICKED IN FALL

In the fall they are picked when the bud is fairly good size and beginning to show color. They will open up as they dry. All the foliage should be removed, and the plants hung upside down in a dry closet. The stems should be bent before drying and held that way with wire, if a graceful bouquet is desired. The stems of the Chinese lantern plant need to be bent to let the lanterns hang clear.

This is a fine time to be collecting cones, nuts and seeds for fall and Christmas table decorations and wreaths.

The Eucalyptus sends down many bells, singly and in clusters, the redwoods large and small cones, the willows and birches catkins, and the magnolia leaf is famous for its lasting qualities.

The new strap - on paint can is excellent for coloring dried material, as the weight of a brush can snap a brittle piece.

You open a can . . . or two or three . . . and in a matter of minutes there's an appetizing, nourishing meal on the family table.

But did you ever stop to think that this simple act—duplicated 574 times a year by the average family—is helping create jobs right here in California? Yes, the can has helped everybody to eat better. And as a result, thousands of people here in California are profitably at work.

Out of this modern container for food have come jobs for farmers and farm workers, for canners and their employees, for railroad men and truckers, for storekeepers, and those who make the cans at American Can Company's nine plants in California.

Protests Delay Bay Road Contract Award

The Menlo Park city council this week was contemplating the prospect of a big turnout at its meeting next Tuesday.

The proposal to repave Bay road last week ran into unexpected protests, coupled with implied suspicion of "ulterior motives" and the promise of organized opposition. Award of a contract for the work, scheduled for last week, was postponed until the next meeting.

The Belle Haven Improvement association, through its president, Henry Jacquemet, offered its support of the project, but hedged it with eight conditions.

FEAR TRAFFIC

The other—and stronger—protests came mostly from residents of Atherton and the unincorporated Menlo Oaks area, who expressed fear that the repaving of Bay road might be only part of a master-plan picture to funnel more traffic into the city's central business district via Bay road and Ringwood.

Leading members of this group opposing early action on the project were W. P. Lass, 3 Fredrick court; William J. Brady, 999 Ringwood avenue, and E. B. Larson, 1 Fredrick court.

They called for postponement of the project for at least 60 or 90 days to allow further study.

Mayor Charles P. Burgess explained that the project had originally been blueprinted in 1949 at the request of Belle Haven residents, that it had no connection with the master plan and that it involved only paving of the full width of the present right-of-way to afford one lane of traffic in each direction with a parking strip on each side.

Further pointing out that long delay would prevent completion of the work before the rainy season, councilmen agreed to withhold award of a contract until the next meeting.

Low bid of four submitted last week was from the L. C. Smith company at $38,621.92. City Engineer Edwin H. Smith had estimated the cost at $40,500.

Jr. C. of C. Opens 'Vote' Campaign

The Menlo - Atherton Junior Chamber of Commerce this week began making plans to help "Get Out the Vote" for forthcoming general elections.

Posters for display in store windows have been printed and will soon be distributed and screen advertising has been scheduled at a local motion picture theater, members of the organization said yesterday.

Plans for bumper cards, a telephone campaign and provisions for free transportation to the polls on Nov. 4 are also in process.

Bill Neylan heads the committee in charge of the campaign. He is assisted by Dick Puntigam and Bill Peppard.

Meanwhile, Membership committee chairman Jack Stuart urged all young men who are interested in joining the organization to attend one of its regular dinner meetings, held second and fourth Tuesdays at the Marie Antoinette hotel.

$45 Taken in MP Store Burglary

Menlo Park police were this week continuing a check of suspects in the burglary of the MP Fine Foods market, 1137 El Camino Real, which occurred sometime between the store's closing Sunday evening and re-opening Monday morning.

Police Chief George Potter said that $42.45 was apparently taken from the cash register of the store. Entrance to, and egress from the building was apparently gained through a skylight.

Chief Potter said that the person who entered the store by that means must have been a very small person.

No doors were forced during the burglary, Potter said.

SM Blood Bank Topic of Magazine Article

A portion of the story behind the founding of our county's blood bank has been told in an August Reader's Digest article entitled "California's Blood Brotherhood."

The tale begins early in the World War II years when a workman in San Mateo was saved from hemorraghing to death by blood rushed from the Irwin facility in San Francisco.

San Mateo union leaders, says the article, then began wondering why such a bank could not be set up in their area. They went to Dr. Carl L. Hoag, who stirred up interest in the project among his associates in the county Medical Society, as well as among citizens.

The people responded with a donation of $30,000. Workman of various unions built the blood bank labor free. Businessmen gave refrigerators and materials. Volunteers contributed hundreds and hundreds of hours as hostesses, typists, telephone operators, aides and file clerks.

In three months county citizens were giving their life-saving blood.

Since the founding of the bank on May 22, 1942, continues the article, nearly 26,000 donors have registered at the bank. More than 250 organizations have credit blood pools there, where blood is available, night or day, for emergency transfusions.

In Menlo Park, blood donors may register for the once-a-month calls of the "Bloodmobile," which stops every second Tuesday at the "Yellow room" of the civic center. A Red Cross flag at the entrance of the city layout indicates that the mobile unit "is in town."

NEW SON

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scully of Menlo Park are the parents of a baby born Sept. 9. The infant "weighed in" at 6 pounds, 7 ounces.

GROEBER BABY

A baby boy, weighing 7 pounds, was born Sept. 9 to Dr. and Mrs. Mark P. Groeber. The Groebers reside at 1069 Willow road.

'Men's Table' Planned for Clipped Wings Style Event

There are still a few tickets available for Saturday afternoon's fashion show sponsored by the Clipped Wings club of the peninsula, according to the reservations co-chairmen. Seats for the show may be obtained in this area by calling Mrs. Peter C. Valentine Jr. at DA 2-2694.

The style event, named "Fashions for Flight" and featuring the ex-airline stewardesses in the role of models, will begin at 1 p. m. in San Mateo's Villa Chartier. Adeline Ross, peninsula commentator, will handle the microphone run-downs.

A feature of the show will be the "Men Only" table, so popular last year. Airline officials and pilot husbands will be seated and treated to the sight of new fall fashions interspersed with stewardess uniforms as worn through the years.

Guest of honor Saturday will be Mrs. Phillip J. Klett of Seattle, president of the United Airline stewardess alumnae. In addition, show committee members Mrs. Richard Young, Mrs. Valentine, Mrs. DeWitt Smith, Mrs. Robert Rugan, Mrs. Frank Egbert, Mrs. William Sutherland and Mrs. Howard Jacobson are extending invitations to all stewardesses, past and present, of the other airlines.

The fashion show is the big annual event for the Clipped Wingers, and is designed to benefit the organization's charity in Lytton, California —a Salvation Army home for the under-privileged.

Area to Have:

JAYCETTES

Eight prospective members of a Menlo - Atherton "Jaycette" unit —wives of members of the area's Junior Chamber of Commerce — held an organization dinner-meeting Tuesday at the Marie Antoinette hotel and appointed Betty Warren temporary chairman of the organization.

Officers will be elected at the next meeting of the group, Oct. 21. Meanwhile, other prospective members were being contacted.

Mrs. Calvin Lind, Mrs. George Halcrow and Mrs. Robert Watson from the San Mateo Jaycette group were present Tuesday, to explain functions and activities of their organization.

Marge Thoreson of MP Honors Young Couple

Some 35 guests from Oakland to Salinas attended the cocktail party and dinner given Saturday night by Marge Thoreson of Menlo Park, to honor Pat Englert from Oakland and Tom Paine of San Francisco, a young couple planning to be married in two weeks.

The buffet was decorated in a blending of coral-colored flowers, featuring a lei circling the table—appropriately signalling Marge's return from a summer spent in the Hawaiian islands.

Notre Dame College Sets 'Welcome Week'

A Big-Little sister welcome has been planned by the College of Notre Dame in Belmont for Sunday, September 21. Monday, all students will register and Wednesday, classes will begin.

The welcome program, which includes a swimming and tennis party, the faculty reception and club tea on Tuesday, will close with the "Orientation Mixer" Friday night in Ralston hall.

CLUB BADMINTON CHAMP

In the Circus club badminton bracket is Mike Mahaney for "under 12's"; Bob McIntyre heads the "over 12's."

Oak Knoll P-TA Host Teachers at Luncheon

Last Thursday morning the executive board of Oak Knoll P-TA held its very first meeting, including room mothers by way of innovation. The inaugural session was held at the home of the president, Mrs. James Allio.

First upcoming event discussed by the P-TA board members was today's luncheon, to be held by the board mothers to honor all teachers at Oak Knoll school. The event, which may include swimming if the weather is right, will be held at the Bay Laurel road home of Mrs. R. K Jacobsen.

Mrs. Nancy Steiner is general chairman for today's luncheon.

The second function on Oak Knoll's agenda — and, incidentally, the first school function of the P-TA — is a teacher-parent get-together at the school, scheduled for some time in October.

Formerly, room mothers have hostessed teas for the purpose of acquainting mothers with the children's instructors, but this year, something in the way of an open house has been planned, and will include fathers, as well.

Separate grades — parents and teachers — will be assigned separate nights to gather at the school. Teachers will then be given the opportunity to let mothers and fathers know what is expected of their children, to further understanding and to bring any problems to light. Refreshments will cap the evening.

More information will be available later on the program, which is still in the formulative stage.

St. Peter's Auxiliary Readies Fashion Show

A fashion show and tea for September 27 is being readied by the Women's auxiliary to St. Peter's Episcopal church in Redwood City. The event will be held at 1:30 p. m. in the church parish hall, proceeds to go into the church building fund.

The show will feature hand-knits and furs, and will be emceed by Mrs. William A. Baxter, San Francisco and Peninsula commentator. Tickets for the affair may be purchased at the church or by calling Mrs. David Stott, EM 6-4960.

Norma Rector Becomes New Mrs. Marshall

Norma Rector, escorted by her father, Ormand N. Rector of Menlo Park, walked down the San Jose State college chapel aisle Sunday to become the bride of James Allen Marshall.

Norma, who had lived with her parents at 510 Bay road, attended Gilroy Union high school and was graduated from Sequoia high school, after transferring in her junior year. She has taken courses at Heald's Business college in San Jose.

Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arley Marshall of Palo Alto, had attended Palo Alto grade and high schools. He is now in his third year at San Jose State, where he is studying electrical engineering.

For her wedding, Norma wore a full-length gown of nylon tulle over satin, fashioned with a lace bodice. A perky Juliet cap held in place her fingertip veil.

The maid-of-honor, Barbara Ann Jones, was dressed in a bouffant frock of pale blue net over taffeta, while junior bridesmaid Judith Ann Rector, the bride's only sister, wore a similar dress in pink.

Gary Tollmer and Harry Sambuceto ushered guests to their seats in the chapel, which had been banked with palms and baskets of white flowers for the occasion. Standing beside the bridegroom was his best man, Jack Kelly.

The Reverend James Martin of San Jose performed the afternoon ceremony.

Soloist was Sterling Astin and organist was Tom Rhoads, both of Menlo Park.

Following the wedding, friends and relatives were invited to attend the reception held in the San Jose Women's club, 75 South Eleventh street. There, Mrs. Marshall, dressed in gray, with pink and gray accessories, and Mrs. Rector, in a steel blue frock of taffeta with rose pink accessories, joined the receiving line.

From San Jose the young couple left for a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe. The bride had changed into her going-away ensemble of brown with moss green accessories, and had pinned on an orchid corsage.

When they return from Tahoe, the James Allen Marshalls will move into their newly purchased home at 1209 Lynn way in Sunnyvale.

Area P-TA Chairmen Invited to Monday's Education Workshop

Parent education chairmen in all area P-TA's have been invited to attend the district CCPT parent education workshop Monday, September 22, starting at 9:15 a. m. in the San Mateo YMCA building, 240 North El Camino Real.

The morning session will be aimed at chairmen of elementary school P-TA's, while the afternoon meeting at 1 p. m. will be of special interest to high school and junior high school representatives.

Mrs. Harry Caplan of Menlo Park, district president, heads the planning committee for the workshop, which has chosen a new play, "And You Never Know," to be presented for the first time here by the Peninsula Little theater cast. The play depicts an emotional crisis in the life of a 12-year-old girl.

Following the play, refreshments will be served and small discussion groups formed, to be led by parent education specialists from San Francisco and San Mateo.

Highlighting the afternoon session, under the direction of Mrs. Richard Dawson, will be the showing of a film, "Farewell to Childhood," produced by the Mental Health film board. The picture deals with the problems of a normal 'teenage girl entering adulthood.

DAR Hears Talk

Mrs. Harry E. Foley, newly elected Regent of Cachinetac chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, presided at last week's meeting of the organization, held at the home of Mrs. C. G. Uhlenberg.

Speaking before the group was Mrs. Richard Coleman of Menlo Park, who spoke in her capacity as nutritionist on the value of natural food and proteins in the maintenance of good health and vitality.

MP Couple Tour Jamaica

Vacationers Mr. and Mrs. George H. Votteler Jr. have returned from a holiday-goer's dream, Jamaica. The breeze-swept British West Indian isle was, in Mrs. Votteler's words, "Truly the flower of the Caribbean."

In picturing the fresh, clean island, Mrs. Votteler described alabaster-white beaches drifting into an ocean as blue and sparkling as cobalt glass. Every morning with the rise of the sun, natives with quaint burro-drawn carts would jog up and down the shore, clearing away the seaweed and raking the sand into fine, soft powder.

THE VOTTELERS

Meals at the Vottelers' hotel, the travelers said, were the epitome of perfection. Breakfasts were served on the open patio adjoining their room, and were brought up every day by the same waiter, Abdul. A large bowl of tropical fruit opened the morning meal.

AL FRESCO

Luncheon was served buffet style on the terrace downstairs, with an offered assortment of some 25 exquisitely unusual dishes. Centerpiece on the main table was, Mrs. Votteler noticed, an arrangement of cleaned lobster shells upended and interwoven with a circlet of tropical flowers.

The British colony touch was obvious at the dinner hour, said the Vottelers. The linen was snowy white and smooth as satin, an 11-piece silver service was laid out and tiny blossoms were scattered over the cloth.

The Vottelers had arrived in Kingstown, Jamaica, at 3:30 a. m. with a two hour drive ahead of them before their hotel could be reached. Mrs. Votteler was surprised, she said, to notice at 4:30 that morning most of the natives up and awake, with the women bearing large baskets of produce on their heads.

Even small children, from about four years, were carrying something atop their heads. Posture-wise, the natives could put Westpointers to shame, the Menlo Park couple said.

Mrs. Votteler at all times was impressed by the politeness and charm of the inhabitants, even to the beggars. One day, while walking to a resort shop, she happened upon an old native, badly crippled, who gave her a wide, white smile, and said, "I'm begging something today."

Dental Auxiliary Tea Planned for Today At Mrs. Snell's Home

The annual Dental auxiliary tea will be held this afternoon from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Gerald Snell, 1208 Yew street, San Mateo. If the weather is nice, the affair will center in Mrs. Snell's garden.

Assisting to make this the auxiliary's best tea yet are Mrs. Stanton Burns, president; Mrs. Norman Snyder, vice president; Mrs. J. O. McMills, recording secretary; Mrs. Ronald Valencia, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bernard McMurdo, treasurer and Mrs. W. I. Petersen, historian.

For those not familiar with Yew street in San Mateo, the auxiliary offers the following directions:

Turn west on Borel (San Mateo), which runs into El Camino Real about one block north of the Chukker, cross the Alameda and take the first turn to the right.

Wives of dentists in this area who are interested in attending, are to call DA 3-6273.

Area Artists To Exhibit Work In Next Week's Portola Show

A contemporary arts and crafts exhibition—the first of its kind to be held "Deep Peninsula"-wise—has been scheduled by the Portola P-TA for September 28.

The open air display and sale will be presented on the grounds of an art and furniture studio in Menlo Park area, 3429 Alpine road. The exhibit will offer examples of modern ceramics and sculpture, painting and weaving, jewelry and textiles, mobiles and furniture, created by artists from San Francisco to Santa Cruz.

Invitations have been sent to some 50 artists, with the emphasis on those producing contemporary art and accessories for western home and living. Mrs. Frank Skillman, committee secretary, has announced acceptances from the following artists in this locality:

Robert Clarke of Menlo Park, ceramics; Lyda Weyl Kahn, weaving, and Matt Kahn, paintings and jewelry, both from Menlo Park; Josiah Lancaster of Woodside, paintings and mobiles; Renee Pelle (Mrs. George Coffin) of Menlo Park, ceramic sculpture.

As the purpose given for the outdoor display, Mrs. Stanley gave three main points:

1. To increase public interest in contemporary arts and crafts and to introduce persons in this area to the work of their local artists. 2. To provide a pre-Christmas outlet for artists and craftsmen. 3. To raise funds for the summer art program at Portola school.

In regard to the latter point, 25 per cent of the money raised through art sales will go toward providing materials for the youngsters' recreation program. To show better what that program is and has done, examples of handicraft produced this vacation time by the Portola schoolchildren will be displayed with the work of the Peninsula artists.

Garden Club Reactivates

The Menlo Park Garden club will re-open its meeting series Tuesday night, September 23, with a lecture on "Bulbs and color in your garden." Herbert Frank, landscape gardener, is the guest speaker for the 8 p. m session, to be held in the "yellow room" of the civic center.

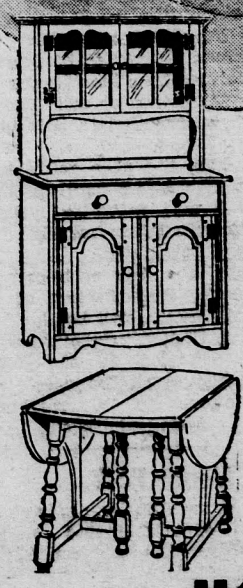

Membership in the club is still open to all local garden enthusiasts.

Barbara Brown, Al Wegner Reveal February Nuptial Plans

Barbara Lou Brown and Clarence Allen (Al) Wegner Jr., both from this area, have announced their engagement, with the wedding date set for Valentine's day, 1953.

The plans were disclosed at a recent get-together held by Lynn Colebourne to honor the June graduates of Menlo-Atherton high school (incidently, the same day as Barbara's birthday). Although Barbara is a member of the M-A class of '52, her fiance was graduated last year from Sequoia.

Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Brown, Walsh road in Atherton. She has one sister, Marlene Brown. Al is the son of the senior Mr. and Mrs. Wegner, 2006 Sterling avenue. He has eight sisters, Mrs. May Coplan, Mrs. Ruby Hatch, Marjorie Wegner, Mrs. Dorothy Dunlop, Mrs. Rose Frazier, Mrs. Dillard Adams, Eda Wegner and Anne Wegner, and two brothers, David and Richard Wegner.

Al, who is now an army reservist, plans soon to enter an advanced administration school for army personnel, following which he will assume both his army and matrimonial positions.

'Teen Talk

By MELINDA PERCY
DA 3-9975

We would like to start out this week by telling you about some very active teen-agers and the work they have done to make this area such a fine place for young people. It all started just over a year ago when the Menlo Park 'Teen club was formed.

The organization started out with 56 members; in a year's time it has grown to 280 young people who attend the weekly Saturday night dances at the MP civic center.

The person who founded the club and "started the ball rolling" is Brad Stieger, a junior at M-A this year.

Among the first council members were Brad, Caroline Harper, Glenda Spear, Bob Boyens, Phil Austin, Jane Sjosten, and Coralee Oswald.

The first dance of the season will be held September 20 at the civic center from 8 p. m. to 11 p. m. Music will be by records; refreshments and games will also be offered.

Membership cards for this year will be sold at the door, Brad announced.

Surprise! Surprise! What's more fun than a surprise party? Ask Glenn McManus if you don't know, because he was given one last weekend in honor of his birthday. HS P-TA Board To Meet Today

The executive board of Menlo-Atherton high school was to hold a meeting today at 1 p. m. in the teachers' room of the school. Main function of the session was to plan the October 1 "Back to School" general meeting.

Also on the agenda for the board members was discussion of the P-TA student body-faculty newspaper to be issued next week, according to Mrs. Donald Walker. Melinda Percy is the student editor of the paper, and Douglas Murray's journalism class comprises the staff writers.

The budget for the year was also to be appraised.

Mrs. H. E. Mokler, new secretary, and Mrs. Donald Newport, incoming freshman sponsor, were to be introduced officially to the board.

Mrs. Russell Goodlive, as co-chairman, was to give a report on her welfare project, the students' placement bureau. The bureau found jobs for more than 300 MAHS 'teenagers for the summer, and now has a list of girls for baby-sitting throughout the year.

Convalescent Home:

RUMMAGE SALE

Plans and work are already in progress for the October 15 and 16 rummage sale to be presented by the Senior Auxiliary to the Stanford Convalescent home. The sale will be held at the All Saints Episcopal church in Palo Alto, Hamilton and Waverley avenues, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Anyone wishing to contribute rummage may bring it to the rummage room on the Convalescent home grounds, or if transportation is needed, may call one of the following committee members:

Mrs. Henry Carmean, Mrs. Cashot Davis, Mrs. Theodore Lenzen, Mrs. Renee LeRoy, Mrs. Duncan O'Neal or Mrs. Reuel R. Sutton.

The senior auxiliary rummage sales, held semi-annually, are the main fund-raising projects of that group and have been popular now for about 33 years. The Convalescent home is supported almost solely by the volunteer auxiliaries, who each year contribute to the beds of underprivileged convalescing youngsters.

The majority of the children at the home are heart patients, and need a long period of recuperation. As a matter of fact, the Stanford facility is one of the few homes in the West equipped to care for heart patients.

Episcopal Auxiliary Sets Meeting Today

The first luncheon meeting of the fall year is being held today at 12:30 p. m. by the Women's auxiliary of Holy Trinity Episcopal church in Menlo Park.

Holy Communion service is to precede the noon session at the church

During the meeting, Mrs. Robert Cavallero, president of the auxiliary, will extend a welcome to her members, with special emphasis on newcomers to the parish, who have accepted the invitation extended to all women in the church to become members of the group in its work for the church.

Mrs. N. F. Searles will address the auxiliary on the adult summer conference held at El Rancho del Opispo in Healdsburg.

JUNIOR NATIVE DAUGHTERS of the Golden West will meet Saturday morning, 10:30 a. m., at Central school.

HEDLEY INFANT

An 8 pound, 7 ounce baby daughter was born Sept. 9 to Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hedley of Menlo Park.

If transportation is needed, call Mrs. Mae McGinnis, DA 3-3016.

Warm Weekend Brings 'Hatch' of Crickets To Plague East Menlo Park Residents

Last weekend's warm weather may have been responsible for a resurgence of this summer's heavy cricket infestation in the North Palo Alto-Belle Haven area, county agricultural authorities said Monday, listing means which householders may use to eliminate the nuisance.

First indication that a new "hatch" of crickets may be abroad was given Sunday evening, when Mrs. Clarence Mapes, 928 Willow road, returned home and found her apartment invaded by the little chirpers.

Her apartment is next to a vacant lot, she said, surmising that the crickets may have come from there.

Ian Campbell, chief deputy agricultural commissioner for the county, told the Recorder that, in all likelihood, the crickets did come from the lot.

There had been many complaints about crickets in the area earlier this year, he added, but these had been dealt with and no complaints had been received for about two weeks, until last weekend's warm weather.

Campbell advised that the county is providing power spray machinery, and the city is purchasing "dust," for eliminating crickets in vacant lots.

Meanwhile, he said, householders can eliminate those which have invaded homes through use of a "10 per cent chlordane solution," available at garden supply stores, which may be dusted around windows and doors.

Crickets generally eat grass but will eat bread and other foodstuffs if they get hungry enough, Campbell said.

He added that he has heard of them eating clothes, but has never seen evidence of it himself.

Industrial Survey, C of C Head Visit MP

Stuart Parry Walsch, director of Industrial Survey Associates, economic consultants with headquarters in San Francisco and Fred Brenne, manager of the Eugene, Oregon Chamber of Commerce, toured Menlo Park last week.

Mrs. Bonnie Heard, secretary-manager of the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce, reports that the visitors showed particular interest in the city's professional-administrative zone, and visited Sunset magazine company headquarters, and Magna Engineering company offices, while in this city.

Mrs. Heard acted as guide.

Brenne called for copies of the city's proposed master plan and for copies of its zoning ordinances, Mrs. Heard said, adding that he commended the city's parking plazas.

Walsch and Brenne called here on a visit to professional - commercial "high spots" on the Peninsula.

A Redwood City motorcyclist narrowly avoided a collision with an auto here Saturday by "flopping" his vehicle on its side and it skidding it for nine feet along El Camino Real.

The cyclist, Joseph G. Schwartz, 22, was proceeding south along El Camino Real north of Santa Cruz avenue. He was in the right hand lane. An auto, also southbound and driven by Joseph Matthew Berridge, 21, of 639 Oak Grove avenue, pulled into the lane in preparation for a right hand turn and slowed down.

Berridge told officers that the cyclist was in a "blind spot" at the rear of his car.

The motorcycle was ridden from the scene. Schwartz was not injured.
